(a) Reasons for inadequacy of profits

During the financial year ended 31st March, 2015, the Company achieved Net Sales of ₹ 2640.73 crore as compared to ₹ 3066.62 crore in the previous year. Despite the difficult business environment, the Company achieved higher Earning before Interest, Depreciation and Tax at ₹ 116.62 crore as compared to ₹ 66.69 in the previous year.

The operating profits were adversely affected owing to oversupply of finished product, more particularly in polyester chips and yarn segments resulting in lower margins and capacity utilization. A significant fall in raw material prices (consequent to the crash in crude oil markets) led to inventory losses though these were minimized due to prudent working capital management and timely exports.

The increase in interest cost resulted in incurring of further loss for the Company.

(b) Steps taken or proposed to be taken for improvement:

The Company has numerous initiatives towards improving operational efficiencies which will reduce energy and manpower costs. A business restructuring is underway at our Jolva plant that will make the Company leaner still. Continued emphasis on the company's strength in product innovation will help it maintain pricing power.

The Company has also taken steps to refinance some of its loans at a lower interest rate with the support of its bankers.

The outlook on long-term prospects of the polyester filament yarn (PFY) business is positive with most projections showing PFY to be by far the fastest growing fibre in the world and in India in particular. The Company is expected to be benefited as it enjoys a leadership position in textile grade polyester chips market not to mention its special position as a yarn and fabric innovator. With the rise in demand for company's products and better capacity utilisation an across the board improvement in performance is expected over the next 2-3 years.

Owing to the over-competitive local markets, the company is also increasingly focusing on the international market.

(c) Expected increase in productivity and profits in measurable terms.

The continuous efforts for improving product-mix through product innovation through close collaboration between R&D, production and marketing departments has been a key driver for Garden's productivity and profitability in the past and will be continued in future.

Garden is also debottlenecking one of its FDY lines to increase output without material increase in costs.

Large additions to PTA capacity are expected this financial year that should result in more competitive PTA costs that will improve both domestic and export sales and margins, other things being same.

With the improvement in overall economic scenario and business environment, stable input costs and commodity prices coupled with domestic demand growth in the Company's products and the steps proposed to be taken as mentioned above, the Company expects improvement in performance over the medium to long-term. Introduction of GST will further provide a level playing field thereby removing a competitive disadvantage of the Company.

III Other Information

(a) Reasons for inadequacy of profits

During the financial year ended 31st March, 2015, the Company achieved Net Sales of ₹ 2640.73 crore as compared to ₹ 3066.62 crore in the previous year. Despite the difficult business environment, the Company achieved higher Earning before Interest, Depreciation and Tax at ₹ 116.62 crore as compared to ₹ 66.69 in the previous year.

The operating profits were adversely affected owing to oversupply of finished product, more particularly in polyester chips and yarn segments resulting in lower margins and capacity utilization. A significant fall in raw material prices (consequent to the crash in crude oil markets) led to inventory losses though these were minimized due to prudent working capital management and timely exports.

The increase in interest cost resulted in incurring of further loss for the Company.

(b) Steps taken or proposed to be taken for improvement:

The Company has numerous initiatives towards improving operational efficiencies which will reduce energy and manpower costs. A business restructuring is underway at our Jolva plant that will make the Company leaner still. Continued emphasis on the company's strength in product innovation will help it maintain pricing power.

The Company has also taken steps to refinance some of its loans at a lower interest rate with the support of its bankers.

The outlook on long-term prospects of the polyester filament yarn (PFY) business is positive with most projections showing PFY to be by far the fastest growing fibre in the world and in India in particular. The Company is expected to be benefited as it enjoys a leadership position in textile grade polyester chips market not to mention its special position as a yarn and fabric innovator. With the rise in demand for company's products and better capacity utilisation an across the board improvement in performance is expected over the next 2-3 years.

Owing to the over-competitive local markets, the company is also increasingly focusing on the international market.

(c) Expected increase in productivity and profits in measurable terms.

The continuous efforts for improving product-mix through product innovation through close collaboration between R&D, production and marketing departments has been a key driver for Garden's productivity and profitability in the past and will be continued in future.

Garden is also debottlenecking one of its FDY lines to increase output without material increase in costs.

Large additions to PTA capacity are expected this financial year that should result in more competitive PTA costs that will improve both domestic and export sales and margins, other things being same.

With the improvement in overall economic scenario and business environment, stable input costs and commodity prices coupled with domestic demand growth in the Company's products and the steps proposed to be taken as mentioned above, the Company expects improvement in performance over the medium to long-term. Introduction of GST will further provide a level playing field thereby removing a competitive disadvantage of the Company.

Transfer to Reserve

In absence of distributable profits / earnings, it is not proposed to transfer any amount to reserves for the financial year 2014-15.

Nature of Business

The Company belongs to the GARDEN VARELI Group which is a leader in the Indian Textile Industry with particular strength in polyester filament based textiles, both yarn and fabric. The Company is also a leading player in polyester chips for both textile and film applications. The Company is known to be a differentiated producer of chips, Partially Oriented Yarn (POY), Fully Drawn Yarn (FDY), Draw Texturised Yarn, Draw Warped Yarn, Draw Twisted Yarn, greige fabric, as well as printed and dyed fabric. The Company is a regular supplier of bright, cationic, micro denier, fine denier yarn, mother yarn and dope-dyed yarn in the market.

There was no change in the nature of business of the Company during the year under review.

Review of Operations

The Company's standalone total revenue for the year 2014-15 was ₹ 2648.44 crore as compared to ₹ 3081.27 crore for the previous year, a decline of about 14%. The fall in sales was due to lower utilization rates due to excess capacity in the face of subdued market conditions. The entire industry operated at a lower utilization rate owing to a large capacity addition by the largest producer of PFY.

Despite lower revenues, the operating profit (earning before interest, depreciation and tax) for the year 2014-15 was higher at ₹ 116.62 crore as compared to ₹ 66.69 crore in the previous year. This was possible despite a challenging year that saw an oil-price driven crash in raw material prices leading to concomitant inventory losses and weak market sentiment. Our emphasis on increased product differentiation, along with record operational efficiencies, timely exports and careful working capital management helped us to remain competitive and improve our EBITDA. However, the high and increased interest cost resulted in another year of loss for the Company. The net loss for the year stood at ₹ 142.75 crore as compared to ₹ 144.45 crore in the previous year.

The sale of chips was lower at 102,031 MT for the year 2014-15 as compared to 124,620 MT in the previous year. The total sale of polyester filament yarn (PFY) was marginally lower at 149,222 MT as compared to 152,200 MT in the previous year.

The overall production of Chips was at 244053 MT during the year 2014-15 as compared to 266831 MT achieved in the previous year. Whereas the production of PFY during the year was higher at 152275 MT as compared to 148949 MT in the previous year. In the weaving segment, grey cloth production for the year 2014-15 was higher at 292.89 lacs mtrs as compared to 275.86 lacs mtrs. during the previous year. The Company had to curtail the production during the year to avoid inventory losses due to volatility of prices of raw material as well as finished goods. Production was also hampered by a shortage of PTA due to plant maintenance by local PTA suppliers in the early part of the financial year.

Your Company's performance was assisted by never-before achieved operational efficiency, first quality production and wastage levels across its yarn plants. Coal, which is the major fuel for the company reduced in price by over 8% during the year. This, coupled with increased substitution of gas with coal was a major cause of cost reduction across our chips and yarn divisions.

Owing to the over-competitive local market, the company also increasingly focussed on the international market.

During the year under review, GAIA International FZE, Wholly Owned Overseas Subsidiary was incorporated on 8th July, 2014. The subsidiary commenced its operation during the year 2014-15. Overview of Economy

The Indian economy in year 2014-15 was characterized by declining inflation, higher growth, a relatively stable currency, huge foreign inflows and improving investor confidence in India. India is likely to become the world's fastest-growing major economy by 2016, ahead of a slowing China.

The Indian economy grew at 7.4% in 2014-15 as compared to 6.9% in 2013-14 and has been projected to grow faster still in 2015-16. The consumer inflation index reduced from 9.7% in 2013-14 to 5.2% in 2014-15. With the fiscal deficit in the range of 4.0% and current account deficit expected to be around 1.7%, India's macroeconomic conditions look healthy.

The steep fall in commodity prices of key imports like coal and especially oil will not just strengthen India's external stability and balance sheet, but also boost demand and growth in time to come.

IMF expects India to grow 7.5 per cent in both 2015 and 2016, while China's growth rate has been projected at 6.8 per cent and 6.3 per cent, respectively. Though the recovery in advance economies is slow, the external environment for India is benign.

Yet external challenges such as a slowing China, weak global trade growth and normalization of monetary policy in the US remain.

A major concern for the economy is the weak industrial growth of 3.5% in FY15 and possibly slower in FY16. Pricing power, demand and thus margins in the industrial sector have been weak leading to low utilization levels and deferment if not abandonment of expansion plans. According to Crisil, utilization rates in 10 out of 12 sectors are at 5-year lows. Stimulating investment growth will remain a key challenge for the new government.

Industry Scenario and Company Performance

The Indian textiles and apparel industry, was estimated at around US $118 billion in 2014. This comprises a domestic market of $76 billion and export market of $42 billion. Both markets are projected to increase at 14% CAGR to make for a total of $500 billion by 2025 according to Wazir Advisors. The industry is the second largest employer after agriculture, providing direct employment to over 45 million and to around 60 million people indirectly. The importance of the sector to the well-being of the economy and its people is thus evident.

Globally, in the year 2000 fibre consumption in textiles was predominantly cotton. Since then, polyester has begun to dominate the fibre mix and its global consumption is expected to be more than double that of cotton by 2030.

In India, the major textile fibre consumed is still cotton, but as is happening in other countries polyester growth is widely expected to greatly outstrip that of cotton. Within the polyester sector the growth of polyester filament yarn, is expected to be fastest for textile applications. The vast majority of your Company's activities services the polyester filament yarn and fabric industry.

While there has been a significant demand slowdown in the PFY industry over the last 4 years, the trend is expected to reverse in line with international and historical domestic trends. Very high growth and profitability in the industry upto FY11 led to substantial capacity expansions such that supply greatly exceeds demand leading to industry utilization rates of around 66%. In the years to come, however, utilization rates and margins are expected to continually improve.

In the year under review, crude oil prices saw a massive correction from $115/barrel in June 2014 to $45/barrel in January 2015. This resulted in corresponding price reductions in PTA and MEG, your Company's key raw materials. From August 2014 to January 2015, PTA prices fell from $1000/MT to $580/MT. The speed of the drop led to panic in the markets, a demand slowdown and inventory losses for the entire polyester textile chain.

Anti dumping duty was imposed on imported PTA but later was dropped for Chinese suppliers providing some relief to the industry.

A weak monsoon coupled with poor government transfers to rural areas last year affected the demand growth for polyester. With the commissioning of an expected 3.3 million tons of PTA capacity this financial year, PTA availability and pricing is expected to improve for the industry.

Last financial year saw the completion of a major PFY expansion of 390,000 MT p.a. by the largest producer of polyester. This worsened the demand-supply balance and reduced utilization rates in the industry. Despite this fact and the raw material price crash your Company improved its performance at the EBIDTA level.

This was possible due to across the board improvements in efficiency, quality parameters and wastage levels across the Company's polymerization and spinning plants. In fact we can proudly say that the Company's plant performance has never been better. Careful raw material and working capital management also helped a great deal. But the largest contributor was the further improvement in the Company's product mix. Our volume of differentiated products increased in the year under review.

During the year 2014-15 price of coal reduced in line with international prices while the Company increased the replacement of gas by coal in its fuel mix. This was also a major contributor in lowering cost of production across its polymerization and spinning plants.

Our weaving and finishing (dyed and printed fabric) divisions continue to at the forefront of fabric and design innovation in India. The varieties of fabric bases as well as designs are unparalleled in the country. In the finished fabric division the Company emphasized higher-value cotton, viscose staple fibre, viscose filament and bemberg based printed fabrics for which there is a large international clientele as well

Opportunity, Risks and Concerns

The opportunity in the textile space is enormous. The textile market has been projected to increase from $118 billion in 2014 to $500 billion by 2025. With polyester projected to grow much faster than cotton, a large part of the increase in market will be due to polyester especially polyester filament based yarn, fabric and apparel. Within the polyester chips, yarn and fabric industry your Company is especially well-positioned as a leader in product-innovation. Your Company's product-range is unparalleled and its reputation for service and transparency is impeccable. This results in a price premium for the Company's products across its entire range. As demand grows, margins in the industry are expected to normalize resulting in significant gains to your Company.

By 2017 CST-exemptions available to a number of companies in certain Union Territories will expire resulting in a significant improvement in your Company's sales and profits owing to creation of a level-playing field.

The Company, like any other enterprise is exposed to business risks. Continuation of the slowdown in polyester demand growth will delay normalization of margins. It is widely expected, however that the slowdown is temporary. The high growth in India's GDP will be highly supportive of growth in the polyester industry as it has been in the past decades.

Another risk faced by the Company in present scenario is sharp downward fluctuations in the prices of its raw materials. This results in weakening of demand and inventory losses although temporary the effect can be significant. On the positive side, the consequent lower price of the finished product will lead to improvement in demand albeit with a lag.

Supply and price of cotton and any significant change in the size of cotton crop in India or globally could have an impact on the demand of the Company's products. Any negative effect is expected to be temporary, however, as the long term trend for polyester both globally and domestically has been to gradually replace cotton.

An increase in the amount of competition that we face could have a material adverse effect on our market share and sales. It is widely expected that demand and supply will gradually balance out in the years to come, both in India as well as in China. This should lead to improved sales and margins in the years to come.

Any unexpected changes in the regulatory framework and financial incentives from the government can affect our operations and profitability. The levy of anti-dumping duty on imported PTA was costly for the industry. Removal of 2% financial incentive for exports given in the Focused Product Scheme, for the company's products has adversely affected export profitability.

Large additions to PTA capacity are expected this financial year that should result in more competitive PTA costs. This is likely to improve both domestic and export performance, other things being same.

The Company's significant exports, imports and dollar liabilities make it vulnerable to currency fluctuations. However, the Company has put in place foreign-currency risk management rules to minimize the forex risk.

The Company's sizeable interest burden make it vulnerable to increases in the interest rate. Yet, the Company is hopeful that interest rates are on the way down.

Business Outlook:

The financial year 2015-16 began on a positive note, though, margins may remain weak owing to oversupply. Demand for both polyester and cotton is weak and might remain so for the next 2 quarters. The embroidery segment is facing a severe slowdown which has affected demand for dyed fabrics. Demand for water-jet loom based fabric has come down generally which has affected the sizing and air-texturising segments that feed it. This has affected the Company's draw-warping, sizing and air-texturising divisions which have been highly profitable for us in the past. Fortunately, the demand for many of the Company's specialties in both yarn and fabric remains strong. In particular, the Company has increased volumes in cationic, fine-denier and spandex-based yarns. The sales of Garden's natural fabric range is expected to be boosted by exports in the quarters to come.

The polyester industry is greatly dependent on the rural economy which has been adversely affected in the past year owing to poor rural handouts and a weak monsoon. The quality of this year's monsoon will have a significant bearing on polyester. Low international demand for cotton and the consequent low cotton prices have also had some effect on polyester demand. Yet, we are cautiously optimistic as the large PTA expansions come on stream in India as this may result in our having internationally competitive raw material pricing.

The outlook on long-term prospects of the polyester filament yarn (PFY) business is positive with most projections showing PFY to be by far the fastest growing fibre in the world and in India in particular. The Company is expected to be benefited as it enjoys a leadership position in textile grade polyester chips market not to mention its special position as a yarn and fabric innovator. With the rise in demand for company's products and better capacity utilisation an across-the-board improvement in performance is expected over the next 2-3 years.

The Company's numerous initiatives towards improving operational effectiveness will reduce energy and manpower costs. A business restructuring is underway at our Jolva plant that will make the Company leaner still. Continued emphasis on the company's strength in product innovation will help it maintain pricing power.

Garden is de-bottlenecking one of its FDY lines to increase output without a material increase in costs.

The continuous efforts to improve product-mix through product innovation via close collaboration between R&D, production and marketing departments has been a key to Garden's profitability in the past and will continue to be so in future.

i) Net Profit/(Loss) after tax as per Statement of Profit and Loss attributable to Equity Shareholders (₹ in Lacs)		(14275.55)		(14444.77)

iii) Basic and Diluted Earnings per share (₹) (Refer Note 28.1)		(35.50)		(37.66)
iv) Face Value per equity share (₹)		10.00		10.00

28.1 Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing the net profit / (loss) for the year attributable to equity shareholders (after deducting preference dividends and attributable taxes) by weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit / (loss) for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average numbers of shares outstanding during the year are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares (i.e. Optionally convertible Cumulative Preference shares)

Since, resultant EPS due to dilution decreased net loss per share as compared to basic earning per share, both basic and diluted EPS are considered at basic earnings.

Earning Per Share (EPS) computed in accordance with Accounting Standard 20 "Earning per Share" as notified under Section 133 of the Companies Act, 2013, read together with paragraph 7 of the Companies (Accounts) Rules, 2014

	(₹ in Lacs)
	2014-15
i) Net Profit/(Loss) after tax as per Statement of Profit and Loss attributable to Equity Shareholders (₹ in Lacs)	(14300.39)
ii) Weighted Average number of equity share used as denominator for calculating EPS	40207454
iii) Basic and Diluted Earnings per share (₹) (Refer Note 28.1)	(35.57)
iv) Face Value per equity share (₹)	10.00

28.1 Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing the net profit / (loss) for the year attributable to equity shareholders (after deducting preference dividends and attributable taxes) by weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit / (loss) for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average numbers of shares outstanding during the year are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares (i.e. Optionally convertible Cumulative Preference shares)

Since, resultant EPS due to dilution decreased net loss per share as compared to basic earning per share, both basic and diluted EPS are considered at basic earnings.
